

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A medicine packing apparatus according to the present invention feeds medicines in accordance with prescription data and then separates and packs the medicines by one dose. A discriminating means 4 discriminate kind of a medicine package belt to be formed in accordance with prescription data. A distributing means 42 distribute the medicine package belt based on the discriminating result of the discriminating means 4. Thus, according to the present invention, a different configuration of medicine package belts can be properly distributes and transferred based on use thereof.

09699507 103100